Custom Cabinetry

Jill Jordan, designer

the Drumms

The five-member Drumm family loves to spend time in their elegantly functional kitchen. They chose the city life of Chicago over the suburbs and have used Woodharbor Custom Cabinetry to create living space that is uniquely theirs.

Meet the Drumms

Phyllis and Kelly Drumm have three kids – Jack, Max and Grace. They live one mile from Lake Michigan in Chicago, two blocks from Wrigley Field, just around the corner from Dairy Queen® and Julius Meinl coffee – priorities for this family.

They shunned the suburbs for city life and never looked back.

Kelly owns and manages a successful advertising and promotion business. Clients include PetSmart®, JC Penney® and The Home Depot®.

Grace is an aspiring artist. Jack and Max aspire to anything involving Chicago sports. One of their favorite things is playing "Anything You Want to Be..." in the playroom.

Happy, healthy kids. Successful business. Within walking distance of a Cubs game. And Woodharbor Cabinetry. Life is good.

The Drumms took advantage of Woodharbor's many options, including Integrated Appliance Panels, making the freezer drawers disappear into the cabinet when closed.

Kitchen cabinetry features Madison door style, Standard Hip profile, Manor Flat drawer front, Coastal White enamel, A-edge profile, flush inset styling.

The hutch in the butler's pantry is the perfect place for storing breakables safely out of the path of the three lively young Drumms. Chateaux door style, Classic drawer front, Cherry in Espresso Finish, A-edge profile, flush inset styling.

the Strunks

The Strunks achieved a unified look throughout their gorgeous gulf coast home using Woodharbor's matching and complementary door styles, wood species, stains and enamel finishes.

The modern gourmet kitchen opens into a spacious family room. Both rooms share the stylish detail of the Georgetown door style, rich Vineyard finish in the kitchen and fresh Coastal white in the family room.

Meet the Strunks

Shannon & Cynthia Strunk were three months away moving back into their remodeled home in Pascagoula, MS. Then came Katrina. The hurricane left their home filled with water and gutted. Nothing left but the studs. Rebuild? Without question.

The spacious, open floor plan and spectacular views of the gulf make their home a favorite place for their large family gatherings. And the delectable meals gourmet chef Shannon conjures up in the roomy, modern kitchen don't hurt either.

Sunday afternoons Cynthia can be found tucked away in the cozy study, sipping espresso, reading a novel or working the Sunday crossword puzzle. In ink.

The Strunks are back at home in the gulf. Resiliant and enduring.

Just like their Woodharbor Cabinetry.

Georgetown door style finished in Coastal White Enamel.

The gracious study in sumptuous Cherry with Vineyard finish creates the very picture of a 'Woodharbor Home'. The matching cabinetry, mantel, library shelves, and wainscot, all by Woodharbor, make the study a warm, inviting space.

Beth Sheppard, designer

Stunning home on the river

An empty nest couple relocating to a luxury condo with a stunning riverfront view wanted an equally stunning way to incorporate their treasured furniture and collectible pieces.

The Worthington door style with Standard Hip profile, 'A' edge, and Manor Flat drawer front sets the stage in this breathtaking kitchen. Designer, Beth Sheppard created a custom enamel, custom Coffee glaze finish and chose seedy decorative glass and Dark Antique flush inset hinges to enhance the opulent look. The imposing Cherry island also uses the Worthington door style finished in Cinnamon with Black Glaze for a striking contrast.

Empty nesters ready to downsize. Slightly. From a large family home to an expansive luxury condo with plenty of room for cherished possessions. They called on designer Beth Sheppard to give their unit a look as breathtaking as the view of the riverfront and Cincinnati skyline.

Beth chose Woodharbor Cabinetry to work seamlessly with the vintage funiture and small collectibles the couple accumluated over the years. They have a passion for antiques.

Surrounded by a stunning view, treasured belongings, and Woodharbor Cabinetry.

Completely at home.

The buffet and bar cabinetry also feature the Worthington door, Standard Hip profile, A-edge, Manor Flat drawer with a custom enamel and custom Coffee glaze finish to carry the lavish and refined look throughout the home.

Ruth Newman, ASID, designer

Woodharbor's extensive selection made it easy for the Andersons to maintain the Prairie Style feel in the cabinetry throughout their home.

the Andersons

Meet the Andersons

Robin is a business executive. She runs marathons. Her husband Matt is an attorney. He runs to the golf course every chance he gets. They live in Mason City, Iowa, in a Prairie Style home. Good choice for two Iowa Hawkeyes.

She collects original art. He collects baseball cards. She enjoys listening to Kenny Loggins. He enjoys watching his tropical fish.

Vacations are rotated. Fun beach excursions to Mexico. Historical jaunts to Europe.

They're busy people. But they make time to make moments. Like watching Mother Nature's daily performance. From the best seat in the house, in their Woodharbor kitchen.

Woodharbor furniture pieces match the prairie style of the rest of the home.

This Stand-alone Furniture Piece has Freeport door style, Prairie profile, Manor Flat drawer front, Knotty Alder in Clove finish, A-edge profile.

The custom-designed table and bench seat in the Andersons' kitchen continue the home's Seabrook door style, Prairie inside profile, Manor Flat drawer front, Cherry in Clove finish, A-edge profile.

the Morrow home

Jesse Morrow is a successful businessman who enjoys entertaining and sharing his beautiful home with friends.

His kitchen cabinetry features Cameron door style, Slab drawer front, Quarter Sawn White Oak in Espresso finish with Satin Sheen, A-edge profile.

Meet Jesse Morrow

Jesse Morrow once owned two car dealerships in St. Louis and one in Sioux City, Iowa. Sold them five years ago. Now he sells real estate.

Owns a 6500-square-foot home in Town & Country, Missouri, with a TV in every room. Fourteen, to be exact. Loves movies and owns plenty of them. A thousand, to be exact. Black and white classics rule.

Eats healthy and works out in his own gym. Likes long weekends in Chicago and entertaining friends.

He drives a Range Rover. Black because it's not a fad. Range Rover because it's classy and functional.

Same reasons he chose Woodharbor Cabinetry.

Augusta Tapia, designer

the Dorgans

Billy & Patty Dorgan chose Woodharbor to create custom cabinetry for two 100-year old homes and two new new buildings for their family compound in Alabama that reflects the historic integrity of the Mobile Bay area.

Designer Augusta Tapia paired Vintage Eggnog finish cabinetry with Rustic chestnut finish for the cheery hood and island to give the main kitchen the classic touches of an older home yet maintains a light, airy feel. The massive ten foot long island is accessible from three sides making it ideal for serving or gathering.

Meet the Dorgans

Billy and Patty Dorgan spent a lifetime making a huge success of their Krispy Kreme Franchises. Bought two historic homes on Mobile Bay and discovered the Dorgan family owned the property in the mid-1880's.

With dreams of giving their family the same special memories they experienced growing up on Mobile Bay the Dorgans wanted to create a family compound. In addition to restoring the two 100-year old homes, they added two new buildings - 6 children and 15 grandchildren need plenty of room.

Three generations of family. Incredible sunsets on the bay. And Woodharbor Cabinetry.

Making memories has never been sweeter.

The 'Pennington' door style on the lower cabinets and the frame doors on the upper cabinets create this handsome, custom finish entertainment center custom designed to fit in the archway. The leaded seedy glass in the Frame doors provides a wonderful way to display family photos, mementos and other decorative accessories.

The beautiful antique bar that sits in the open family room overlooking the gulf is a real showpiece. The Nottingham door style in Cherry with Rustic Chestnut finish is designed as a stand alone piece with and an authentic antique look that cleverly conceals modern conveniences, like the refrigerator and ice maker.

A charming breakfront with the same combination of Pennington drawer fronts and wainscot and Frame doors with leaded seedy glass. The Eggnog/Latte glaze finish and the creative use of the carved onlay at the top of the cabinet adds just the right touch of elegance.

This vanity sits on a platform with ball feet to create the look of vintage furntiure. The Hawthorn door style with Mint Julep enamel finish fit perfectly with the historic Old Bay look the Dorgan's wanted to acheive.

The Cape May door style and Enkeboll decorative molding and columns finished in Vintage Vanilla come together to create a feminine dressing table in Mrs. Dorgan's lovely master bath.

Two stately armoires with the Wakefield door style in Cherry with Rustic Chestnut finish and an Acanthus motif built into the crown flank the decorative vanity sink, lending a masculine feel to Mr. Dorgan's bath.

The distressed 'Mint Julep' finish, seedy glass doors, arched pediment, and farmhouse sink with turnposts give this guest cottage kitchen the time-worn look fitting a century old home.

Jocelyn Wilgenbusch, designer

the Carrolls

The Carroll home features the artful contrast of painted and stained wood. In the kitchen, they chose Waterbury door style, Standard Hip profile, Slab drawer style, Knotty Alder in Rustic Pebble matte finish, D-edge profile.

Island and Hood, focal points of the kitchen, feature Seabrook door style, Slab drawer style, Standard Hip profile, Maple in Vintage Vanilla enamel with matte sheen, D-edge profile.

The master bath also uses Seabrook door style, Slab drawer style, Standard Hip profile in Knotty Alder. finished in Rustic Pebble with a matte sheen and D-edge profile.

Meet the Carrolls

Sid and Jean Carroll built their business for 30 years. They retired and contracted Jean's brother, Jim Wiewel, to build their dream home. Next to a golf course. Convenient, since they love to golf.

They designed and built the home with family in mind. Six children and seven grandchildren. Plus Jean's and Sid's large families. Wide-angle lens large. Jean's family vacationed in Hilton Head, South Carolina. The local economy soared.

Home is the Carroll haven. The living room-kitchen area is the family hub. Functional. Open. Plenty of room for elbows, coloring books and big plans.

And they chose Woodharbor Cabinetry for their Home Sweet Home.

The serving bar uses Portland door style, Slab drawer front, Standard Hip profile, Knotty Alder in Rustic Pebble finish with matte sheen, C-edge profile.

Jill Ellis, designer

the Rodwins

The Rodwin home uses a pleasing and unique combination of wood and paintable surfaces. A worthy personality for a Colorado hideaway. The kitchen features Waterbury door style, Manor Raised drawer front, Standard Hip profile, Knotty Alder in Honey finish with Coffee glaze, C-edge profile.

The island and hutch feature Waterbury door style, Manor Raised drawer front, Maple with Olde Boot Black finish with matte sheen, C-edge profile.

Meet the Rodwins

Jake Rodwin is an architect. Owns his own firm. Val is a fashion designer. You can see her creations at Macy's. Their son J.T. is into dinosaurs. Daughter Eryn is into Polar bears. Wants to become a scientist and stop the ice caps from melting. Their dog Abe is into belly rubs and naps.

They spend time at their Colorado home every chance they get. Hiking and mountain biking in summer. Skiing and snowball fights in winter. Days are measured in wildlife sightings and sunsets. At night it's board games and reading and family meals. Everyone helps. No one misses the TV.

And when it came to choosing cabinetry for their sanctuary, they did not compromise. They chose Woodharbor Cabinetry.

the Lyons

This beach house in an exclusive area of Delaware was a labor of love for the Lyons, requiring extensive renovation.

Woodharbor's endless palette allowed the Lyons to maintain a bright and spacious feeling throughout. They chose Madison door style, Slab drawer front, Maple in Honey finish, A-edge profile.

The Lyons chose to have their oven and microwave built into their cabinetry, one of several options available for appliances.

Meet the Lyons

Kate and David Lyon own a commercial insurance and risk management business in Delaware. It's going great guns, expanding into other states.

They have two sons, David and Tim, both attending college. They own two homes – one in Wilmington, the other at Henlopen Acres, an exclusive area of Rehoboth Beach, Atlantic Ocean. Bought it 20 years ago. Very pink. Extensive renovations. Very elegant.

David belongs to Ducks Unlimited. Wetlands conservation. Fitting for a guy on the ocean. They're a family of action. Hunting, fishing, tennis, squash, cycling, gardening. Don't just sit there; do something.

The Lyons are busy, active, successful. They work hard, pay their dues and buy the best. They chose Woodharbor Cabinetry.

Mike May, designer

the Ouversons

The Ouversons brought their love for sun and water to their condo on the lake. Many accent pieces were purchased in Florida, where their winter home is located. The entertainment room features cabinetry with Cameron door style, Slab drawer front, Cherry in Walnut with Satin Sheen, A-edge profile.

Cabinetry in the master bath and powder bath feature Cameron door style, Slab drawer font, Cherry in Espresso finish with Satin Sheen, A-edge profile.

Meet the Ouversons

Tom Ouverson is a real estate broker and developer in Naples, Florida. His wife Diane is a buyer for a retail specialty store.

They love the sunshine, water and golf. But their Midwest roots were calling. They answered. Built a condo in Clear Lake. Contemporary and traditional with a nod toward the Florida Coast.

Big windows. Spacious deck. Lake view.

Large open kitchen with a six-burner stove. Room for friends and families and stories of summers past. And Woodharbor Cabinetry for memories in the making.

The kitchen, with its six-burner stove, is a favorite place for the Ouversons. Cabinetry features Somerlake door style, Standard hip profile on panel doors, Manor Flat drawer front, Cherry in Walnut Black glaze with Satin Sheen, A-edge profile.
